

48th City Council District

Natraj Bhushan (D)

My name is Natraj Bhushan. As a first-generation immigrant and proud life-long resident of Southern Brooklyn, I have confidently put my name on your ballot for New York City Council District 48 for the following reasons: First, I understand the issues that our community faces, and this inspired me to go to law school and start my own practice that helps many New Yorkers with their quality of life issues. Second, in addition to my legal practice, I have worked with three current city council members, which has taught me that empowering the community is the most efficient way to create real, positive change. Third, my entire platform is designed not only to address today's problems, but also to actively seek community input in discovering tomorrow's solutions. But, I can't do this alone. So, I encourage you all to come out and join this campaign in bettering Southern Brooklyn.

Reprinted as supplied by the candidate. Participating in the Campaign Finance Program.